All your breaking celebrity news!

THE long-suffering wife of lying, cheating, boozing country star Trace Adkins has dropped her divorce suit, The National ENQUIRER has confirmed.

In official court documents obtained exclusively by The ENQUIRER, Rhonda Adkins filed an “order of voluntary dismissal” on June 1, nearly 15 months after she moved to end their troubled 17-year marriage.

The decision puts an end to the couple’s $20 million split, and Rhonda’s mother told The ENQUIRER her daughter’s choice to stay hitched stems from good old-fashioned family values.

Mellencamp begs Ryan to reunite for THIRD time!

MEG Ryan has sent boyfriend John Mellencamp back to his small town!

The on-again, off-again pair has split for good, The National ENQUIRER has learned – even though the grizzled rocker is begging the blonde actress to take him back for a third time!

IT’S OVER ...
FOR GOOD, MEG TELLS JOHN

“Meg’s had it with John,” a family friend divulged. “She kicked him to the curb, saying she wanted her space. But John still believes the third time will be the charm!”

The insider added: “He’s pleading, but she insists she’s done!”

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, a frustrated Meg became convinced John, 63, wasn’t serious about the relationship, because he wouldn’t move with her to New York City or give up smoking – even though he suffered a heart attack at 42.

“John got along great with Meg’s 23-year-old son, Jack,

Rhonda, 51, apparently feels the same way: She had filed for divorce, citing “irreconcilable differences” in March 2014 – less than a month after The ENQUIRER exposed the singer’s twisted double life.

We reported skirt-chasing Trace, now 53, had confessed to cheating on Rhonda with nearly a dozen women! He even told pals that the love of his life was married actress Victoria Pratt – whom he met while filming the movie, “The Virginian.” Victoria, 44, spurned Trace’s advances, but the pair flirted publicly on their Twitter accounts.

The ENQUIRER also reported that foul-mouthed Trace called out country greats Keith Urban, Brad Paisley and Blake Shelton with vulgar comments, and blasted both Luke Bryan and Jason Aldean as “talentless.”

The hotheaded drunk even flew into gay-bashing and racist rants, making national news in early 2014 when he got into a blotto brawl with a look-alike impersonator.

Fed-up Rhonda tossed him out and slapped him with divorce papers, seeking primary custody of their three young daughters, along with child support, alimony and her legal fees, before withdrawing the suit.

who attends college in New York, and he adored Meg’s daughter, Daisy,” the insider said. “He was the one who wanted to get married!”

But things soured when Meg, 53, demanded they live in Manhattan – far from the musician’s rustic property outside of Bloomington, Ind.

“John finally agreed to move, but it’s been one thing after another since,” the friend added. “When they looked at apartments and Meg thought one was ‘perfect,’ he would find something wrong with it!”

John told an interviewer in December 2013 moving east was out of the question: “I can’t see poor people. I can’t see the suffering. I can’t see the trash on the streets. I’m not leaving Indiana. I’m going to die here.”

The unlikely duo hooked up in 2010 after the rocker ditched model Elaine Irwin, his wife of 18 years. At times they appeared headed straight for the altar, despite his three divorces and her messy split from Dennis Quaid 10 years earlier.

Meg shredded that marriage during a steamy affair with “Proof of Life” co-star Russell Crowe, and the furious backlash destroyed the movie and wrecked her career. NE

HORN-DOG HARRY BUST-ED!

The two iconic singers of different generations – she’s 29, he’s 88 – have a new jazz album, “Cheek to Cheek,” but it looks like the prince wasn’t interested in her cheeks!

The royal rogue, 30, was recently spotted making time with “Doctor Who” star Jenna Coleman, while palace insiders revealed his on-and-off girlfriend of six years, Chelsy Davy, is back on the scene. Although he’s said he’d like to settle down and have kids like his big bro, it doesn’t look like happy Harry will marry anytime soon!

In the past five years, Melissa's films, including "Bridesmaids" and "The Heat," have earned over $750 million at the box office. She also won an Emmy for her work on the CBS sitcom, "Mike & Molly."

But while flying high career-wise, the comedy queen has also faced some dire health issues.

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, the 5-foot-2 actress has been warned that her previous reliance on quick-fix weight losses – once dropping from 240 to 190 pounds in just a few months – could be dangerous.

According to renowned medical experts, Melissa's yo-yo dieting could lead to heart disease, as well as breast, cervical and uterine cancers.

As a result, "Melissa has been slowly and steadily dropping extra pounds with a sensible, sustainable diet and moderate exercise. She's the healthiest she's been in years," divulged the source.

The slimmed-down star, who will launch her own all-sizes fashion line later this year, cut a glamorous figure wearing a gown she designed to the "Spy" premiere on June 1 in the Big Apple.

She also struggled with post-baby weight gain after Georgette's birth.

Said the source: "Melissa is playing coy about the real reason for her recent weight loss. She says it's to be a good role model for her daughters and fans, but it's actually because Melissa wants to be in tip-top condition" – perhaps for her late in life pregnancy!

HODA Kotb has finally lifted the veil on the identity of her secret boyfriend – and now her best pal and "Today" co-host Kathie Lee Gifford believes she should don a bridal veil as well!

THIS is the steamy clinch that's haunted Jennifer Garner for the past five years, and doomed her once-happy marriage!

That's busty beauty Blake Lively [right] gyrating on Jen's husband, Ben Affleck, in a too-hot-to-handle scene from "The Town."

And according to insiders, Jen's blood has been boiling ever since Ben cast the leggy blonde to play his love interest in the 2010 crime drama.

"That was when things were so stressful for Ben," dished a source.

Ben, 42, and Blake, 27, developed a deep bond while filming, sources said, and Ben couldn't wait to get her into the sack!

"You and I had to do a sex scene on the first day of shooting," Ben recalled while promoting the film with Blake, "and you were very poised and comfortable about it."

BESIDES THAT, "The Town" was filmed in Boston where Ben grew up, and he was soon giving Blake private tours of his youthful stomping grounds, sources said.

Since then, Blake has often declared that she considers Ben a mentor, even saying that she still follows advice Ben once gave her in “every aspect of life.”

The former “Gossip Girl” actress is now married to hunky Canadian actor Ryan Reynolds, and gave birth to their daughter, James, in December.

RUMORS OF Blake’s close friendship with Ben gnawed at Jen again when her husband co-starred with another knockout, sultry Emily Ratajkowski – who appeared topless in the Robin Thicke music video, “Blurred Lines” – as his mistress in the thriller, “Gone Girl.”

As The National ENQUIRER reported, Jen was so worried about Ben and Emily that she asked pal Neil Patrick Harris to keep tabs on them while on set!

If that wasn’t enough to tug at her heartstrings, there was Ben’s infamous, too-close-for-comfort encounter with British actress Hayley Atwell in 2008 during a dinner at London’s swanky Sanderson Hotel for his brother, Casey.

Meanwhile, earlier this month The ENQUIRER reported that sleazy Ben had an affair with stripper Tammy Morris while he was engaged to hottie J.Lo.

Jen, 43, is huddling with hotshot divorce lawyers amid speculation that papers could be filed any day, sources said.

According to experts, the A-list couple will likely wage a bruising battle over their $150 million fortune and custody of their three kids.

“When divorce papers are filed, Jen will ask for the moon, and probably get it!” a pal told The ENQUIRER.

“She wants to teach Ben a lesson and humiliate him – just as she feels that he’s humiliated her.”

WOMEN’S PRISON FOR JENNER!

She may end up in a female jail if convicted over fatal horror crash

CAITLYN Jenner’s legal woes over a fatal car crash could create a headache for authorities!

If she’s convicted of a crime, the gender-bending reality TV star would most likely be housed with other female inmates, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

Caitlyn remains under investigation by the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department for rear-ending a Lexus driven by Kimberly Howe, 69, on the Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu this February.

Kimberly was killed, and family members – along with another driver involved in the accident – have since sued the Olympic gold medalist.

Caitlyn would most likely be incarcerated at the Century Regional Detention Facility in the industrial suburb of Lynwood, Calif., an all-female facility where other celebrity lawbreakers, including Paris Hilton, Lindsay Lohan and Michelle Rodriguez, served time.

But she also could be shipped to the Twin Towers Correctional Facility in downtown L.A., which has a dedicated gay/transgender cellblock.

As a celebrity, Caitlyn would “most likely be housed in the keep-away unit of either jail for her safety,” the source added. “Celebrities just don’t go into general population.” NE

SECRET LESBIAN LIFE? THAT'S SO RAVEN!

Revelations will shock fans of 'The View'

THE newest lady on "The View" has a lady love!

Former "Cosby" kid Raven-Symoné, 29, was recently anointed as the popular daytime talk show's newest co-host – but it's what she's not telling viewers that is bound to shock!

Lesbian rumors have hounded the talented actress, who also starred on the Disney Channel series, "That's So Raven," for years.

"Raven has hidden being gay for a long time now," a source told The National ENQUIRER.

In 2012, The ENQUIRER revealed that Raven had shacked up with AzMarie Livingston, an androgynous beauty then appearing on "America's Next Top Model."

The two began dating and moved in together. "But when her family found out, they blew their stack and it's created a gay scandal for Raven," said the source.

"She told her parents she loves them, but her home – especially her bedroom – is nobody's business, and she was not going to back down, so they needed to accept it, period."

Despite The ENQUIRER's report, Raven refused to discuss her love life, declaring: "My sexual orientation is mine."

It wasn't until she came face to face with Oprah Winfrey and her cameras that she felt comfortable to tell the world she was in "an amazing, happy relationship" with a female partner.

"I don't want to be labeled gay," said Raven. "I want to be labeled a human who loves humans."

Said the insider: "With Raven at the table, it's not your mother's 'View' anymore. There's going to be a lot of fireworks!"

THE troubled star of TV's "ALF" is now living his own sad and remote alien existence!

Max Wright, adored by millions as uptight dad Willie Tanner on the NBC sitcom, is living a pathetic "down and out" life 25 years after the sitcom ended, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

These exclusive photos show the 71-year-old former TV star – who also had a co-starring role on ABC's "Norm" – outside his modest apartment in a seedy stretch of Hermosa Beach, Calif.

"Max appears completely alone," a neighbor told The ENQUIRER.

"He seldom leaves his place, except to take out the trash or pick up groceries. You'd have no idea he was once a big star on prime-time TV."

MAX'S TWISTED double life was first exposed by The ENQUIRER with a jaw-dropping exclusive report in April 2001.

In some of the most shocking celebrity photos ever published, the married father of two was caught on home video smoking crack and making gay pornography!

Max, 57 years old at the time, was seen with two naked men as they inhaled crack from a makeshift pipe – while he fondled one of the men and had

As his life spiraled out of control, Max was also arrested for drunk driving - and his wife booted him out of their home.

TWO YEARS AFTER The ENQUIRER exposé, cops caught Max in a second DUI arrest. In an effort to save his life, he then entered a rehab program.

Max vowed he was drug-free in 2003 but hasn't worked in film or television since 2005.

While he remains married, neighbors said his wife does not live with him. "He's pretty much an outcast," whispered one.

"He still wears his trademark spectacles, but he's withered away and thin, and sometimes wears the same outfit for a few days in a row!"

When an ENQUIRER reporter went to check on his welfare, Max cracked his door open and said: "Please leave." NE

Manson lover two-times him with cult disciple 'Gray Wolf'

CHARLES Manson's 26-year-old fiancée is in a sick romantic triangle with one of the psycho's favorite deranged disciples!

Afton "Star" Burton skipped a recent visiting session with her 80-year-old convicted serial killer lover to spend time with his pal "Gray Wolf" – real name Craig Carlisle Hammond – on the outside.

The National ENQUIRER caught Afton and Hammond enjoying a date at the Paso Robles Rock and Gem Show.

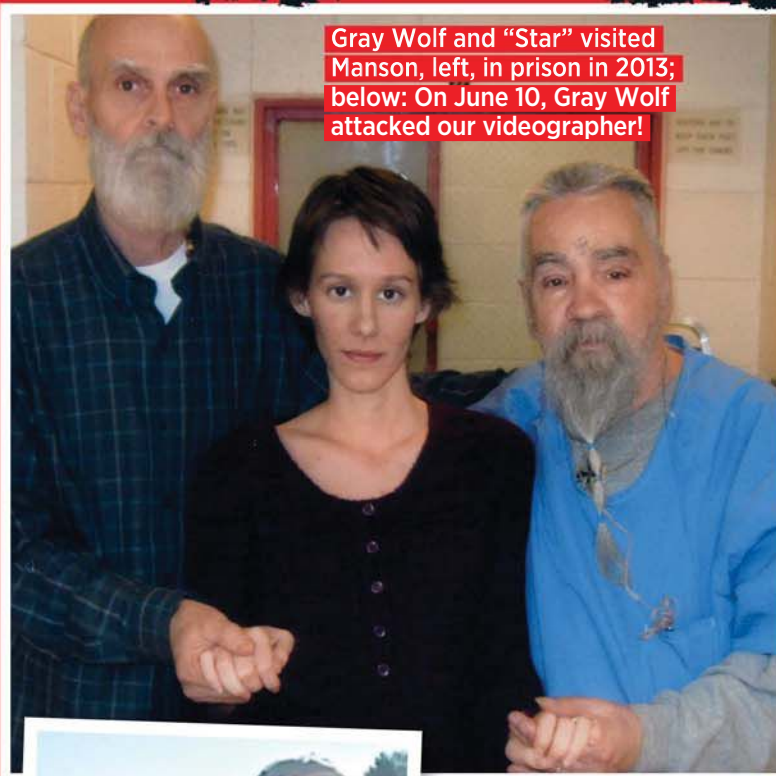

"They appeared very close, leaning in together to look at rocks and minerals while sharing jokes," an onlooker said.

Wearing a short sundress and no makeup, Afton was visibly excited to be with her older man, whose gnarled beard, bushy eyebrows and beady eyes give him a striking resemblance to Manson.

While both had been placid and relaxed throughout the day, they became defensive when approached and asked about Afton's impending marriage to Manson.

Things got even scarier when Hammond, 65, spotted an ENQUIRER videographer. He grabbed our man in a savage chokehold – after learning we had secured footage of Manson's would-be prison bride with one of his closest confidantes!

The pair was canoodling only an hour's drive from the California State Prison in Corcoran, where Manson is serving a life sentence – and where Hammond remains banned after being arrested for trying to smuggle him a cellphone.

In another cruel snub to Manson, Hammond has also become Afton's personal driver, neighbors told The ENQUIRER. "We see his old car around here all the time," said a local resident, who requested anonymity.

"He visits the young lady, but I have no idea what they do in that apartment. He's much older than her, but they seem to get on well. They're always together."

Afton had purchased a license to wed Manson last year, but the document expired in February before they could tie the knot.

She continues to wear a wedding band on her wedding finger – although this recent behavior could support Manson's son, Matthew Roberts, in his charges that Afton is an "opportunistic pariah" only interested in her lover's fame and fortune.

"Smoke is a big dude, and O.J. was paying him for protection, letting him get whatever he wanted at the commissary," said the source.

"O.J. has a sizable amount of credit there because he receives money from his family and female fans.

"But Smoke was demanding more and more from O.J. for protection."

When prison officials found out, Smoke was moved to another cell and disciplined.

"Now Smoke is intent on getting even with O.J. He wants to, in his own words, 'open a can of whup a--' on him. O.J. is fearful of running into him, and is crying like a baby!" the source said.

The incident follows another inmate's headline-making attack on O.J. in March.

The prisoner, an Aryan Nation member identified as Travis "Blu" Waugh, threw O.J. against a wall after the fallen football star skipped ahead of other inmates lined up for their medication.

The 6-foot, 250-pound prisoner told O.J. to "wait like everybody else," but O.J. reportedly shot back: "I'm gonna stay right here and your a-- ain't gonna do nothing about it."

O.J. - who's serving time for a 2008 conviction in a botched robbery of his own memorabilia - spat in Waugh's direction, and Waugh slammed him against a wall before guards intervened.

Added the source: "O.J. was lucky he wasn't killed that time. Now he's got his former cellmate out for him. O.J. is just hoping he'll live long enough to make his next scheduled parole hearing in 2017." NE

OLIVIA'S

Newton-John losing millions after contractor working on her home blew his brains out in the bedroom

OLIVIA Newton-John is set to lose millions after pulling her "cursed" waterfront mansion in Florida off the market – because a workman killed himself in a bedroom with a pistol and made it virtually unsalable!

Comedian Rosie O'Donnell was all set to buy the 6,300-square-foot house on ritzy Jupiter Inlet Colony, but pulled out of the purchase after Christopher Pariseleti ended his life in 2013.

The "Grease" star, 66, put the home through one exorcism and four price reductions after it was first listed at $6.2 million before she withdrew it from sale last month!

In an exclusive interview, Christopher's brother Erik told The National ENQUIRER:

"I'm still struggling with what happened."

A source close to the late man's family said Olivia's constant demands pushed Christopher to the brink.

"The family thinks Olivia is partly to blame," an insider confided to The ENQUIRER.

"There were a lot of demands placed on Christopher. This all happened when he was going bankrupt, so the pressure on him was enormous."

Police have said Christopher, who died at 41, had asked Olivia for a $307,000 loan for his business in the days before his death.

In an email, the construction worker pledged to pay them back $11,000 per month over the next 30 months.

Sarah Jessica and Matthew's cottage in Kilcar – where "nobody bothers to ask for an autograph anymore"

ONE of show business' most glamorous couples is giving up city life for a cottage in Ireland!

Sarah Jessica Parker is already telling Irish locals that she's ready to settle down with hubby Matthew Broderick at their humble home in the tiny town of Kilcar. The National ENQUIRER has learned.

"We'd be delighted to decamp to Ireland," Sarah Jessica said.

"Move the children there, put them in school, have tea every day and a proper fry-up" – referring to the traditional Irish meal laden with fried food.

SUICIDE CURSE!

Christopher ended his life in August 2013

Easterling, told cops he and Olivia were planning to talk to Christopher about it, but never got a chance to give him an answer.

However, according to the family source, the power couple “turned him down.”

“It’s not a surprise he snapped,” the insider said.

“Now it’s like the home is cursed. Who would want to live there after everything that’s happened?”

Meanwhile, when Rosie

Rosie O'Donnell pulled out of buying the property backed out of her $5.6 million offer, Olivia turned to a Catholic priest who attempted to cleanse it of any evil or curse.

But under Florida law,

The chat queen reneged on a deal to buy the death house

Olivia and her husband bought a nearby condo to get away from their haunted waterfront home realtors have to tell any prospective buyers about the violent death – and Olivia couldn’t convince anyone to take it on and it’s since sat empty.

“The home is now in limbo until Olivia decides what to do,” said a Florida-based onlooker.

“They love the simple life here,” said a local

Since they married 18 years ago, Sarah Jessica and Matthew have returned each summer to their four-bedroom cottage.

Now villagers say they’re ready to welcome the celebs as permanent residents – along with the couple’s three kids: James, 12, and 6-year-old twins, Loretta and Tabitha.

While Sarah Jessica’s reps denied the report, the 50-year-old actress – who played “Sex and the City” columnist Carrie Bradshaw – told a local newspaper that she’s “considering a permanent move,” adding: “It’s just an exquisite, beautiful, relaxing, wonderful place for ourselves and our children.

“There’s a simplicity to the time we spent there, and the people are so lovely.”

The residents’ warm reception is also a touching show of support for Matthew, 53, whose ties to his favorite Irish village were strained in 1987 – after he caused the deaths of two North Ireland women in a fatal head-on collision after his car veered into the wrong lane.

A villager who’s known the family for 10 years told The ENQUIRER: “They’ve already had more work done on the cottage. It’s quaint, but you’d never guess it’s the home of Hollywood celebrities!” NE

DEMI'S DEMISE!

STARTLING new photos of surgery-obsessed Demi Moore reveal her face is so misshapen that she's almost unrecognizable!

"She looks like a completely different person!" charged Dr. Otto Placik, a Chicago-based board-certified plastic surgeon, who has not treated the star.

"To me, she's no longer Demi Moore - she's Demi-less!"

While the 52-year-old actress has denied having plastic surgery, her jarring look stunned onlookers at an event for a new children's store opened by her pal and former "Punky Brewster" star, Soleil Moon Frye.

"Demi just doesn't want to get old," dished an inside source. "She's got three kids, she was dumped by a younger guy [ex-hubby Ashton Kutcher] and she can't accept aging."

"But all this work isn't helping. It's just making her look weird!"

Even Demi, who's reportedly coughed up more than half a million bucks for cosmetic procedures over the years, admitted in a recent interview: "I'm obsessed with my body. I changed it multiple times over."

But the "Striptease" star has gone too far, another cosmetic surgery expert said.

"Until recently, Demi had done well. She never seemed to age," said Dr. Lyle M. Back, who also hasn't treated her.

"But her new surgeon seems to have shifted into hyper-drive! She has jacked-up eyebrows, and her lips are filled to capacity. She looks completely different - neither youthful nor better!"

Demi is famous for palling around with her twentysomething daughters, Rumer, Scout and Tallulah Willis - leading some to believe she even feels competitive with them!

The "Ghost" actress and 26-year-old Rumer, the latest winner of "Dancing with the Stars," even posted a photo on Instagram recently that showed them looking like twins.

"Demi loved it," said a source. "She's determined to look as young as her daughters."

But Demi's latest work has done far more harm than good, said New Jersey-based Dr. Back.

"Her cheeks couldn't carry any more filler," he said. "When she smiles, it has nowhere to go!" NE

HOLLYWOOD'S MOST SHOCKING MURDER MYSTERY

HOMICIDE detectives investigating the mysterious death of Natalie Wood 33 years ago should exhume the body to determine whether or not Robert Wagner killed her.

That's the bombshell demand from the chief investigator on the cold case who claims to have unearthed new evidence suggesting the screen siren's skull was brutally bashed in before she plunged to a watery death off Catalina Island in 1981.

"I believe that Natalie suffered a skull injury that rendered her unconscious," investigative journalist Marti Rulli told The National ENQUIRER in a world exclusive interview.

But in a shocking breach of medical protocol, Natalie's brain and skull were not examined in the original autopsy that determined she "accidentally drowned," The ENQUIRER has learned.

"It's an unconscionable oversight, as it may have established how Natalie was left unconscious before landing in the ocean!" Marti said.

"If her body is exhumed, whether she suffered a skull injury could still be determined."

NATALIE IS BURIED at Westwood Village Memorial Park cemetery in Los Angeles, alongside a cavalcade of Hollywood's biggest stars - including Marilyn Monroe, Dean Martin and Eva Gabor.

Her coffin would include chilling clues that could establish what really happened aboard the "Splendour" as the couple entertained her "Brainstorm" co-star Christopher Walken, it's believed.

"It's the only way to learn the truth about Natalie's death," a crime scene investigator told The ENQUIRER.

"New forensic tests and techniques could help reveal how she was killed, or worse, who killed her."

"Splendour" Captain Dennis Davern first blew the whistle on the alleged cover-up, claiming Wagner flew into a jealous rage and beat Natalie that night.

He and Marti co-authored the book, "Goodbye Natalie, Goodbye Splendour," which was instrumental in police re-opening the case.

Other investigators have corroborated the foul play theory: As The ENQUIRER first reported, journalist Kathleen Hewtson said she believed Wagner beat Natalie so savagely her earlobe was "torn off" before she was dumped in the ocean.

ACCORDING TO Marti, that scenario matches with the Los Angeles medical examiner who, in 2013, questioned the original 1981 findings and changed Wood's cause of death from "accidental drowning" to "drowning and other undetermined primarily because of new technology," forensic expert Lawrence Kobilinsky told The National ENQUIRER.

After 33 years, all that's left of Natalie's body would be bones, teeth and hair. But sophisticated new X-ray and CAT scan technology could help identify blunt force injuries and microscopic fractures, said Kobilinsky.

"More sensitive instrumentation" could also determine whether her skull was bashed in, he said. "If you have a skeleton, good forensic medicine will reveal where a fracture was, and the likelihood that it was caused by another human being," added Kobilinsky.

factors." Coroner Lakshmanan Sathyavagiswaran's report cited unexplained fresh bruising on the actress' right forearm, left wrist and right knee, along with a scratch on her neck and a superficial scrape on her forehead.

Officials concluded the wounds open the possibility she was assaulted before drowning.

What's more, Natalie's bladder contained several ounces of urine, "which scientifically proves she was not conscious in the ocean," said Marti.

IN THE WAKE of the new evidence, one of the nation's top pathologists has called for a fresh examination of Natalie's remains.

"Having her body exhumed for a second autopsy can determine if anything was possibly missed," Dr. William Manion, a forensic consultant, told The ENQUIRER.

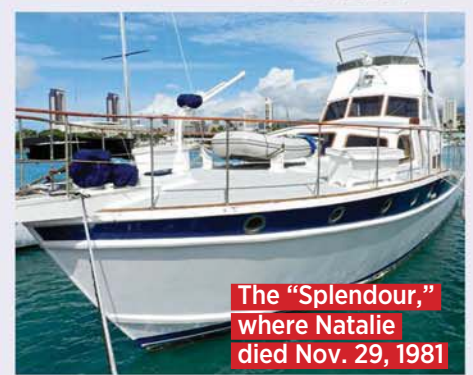

Adding to the mystery surrounding the condition of Natalie's body, The ENQUIRER learned she was laid out in an open coffin, her body draped in a full-length fur coat to ensure her extensive bruises were not visible to mourners.

A makeup artist on "Brainstorm" also tended to the actress' battered face and neck, according to author Gavin Lambert's book, "Natalie Wood: A Life."

At the funeral parlor, Natalie's then 7-year-old daughter, Courtney, asked to have the coffin opened so she could take one last look at her mother.

"RJ gave his permission and he and Courtney went and stood for a moment at the casket," her sister Lana wrote in her book, "Natalie: A Memoir By Her Sister."

As The ENQUIRER has reported, Lana firmly believes Wagner has gotten away with murder.

Likewise, Marti believes authorities have enough evidence to charge Wagner, 85.

"With the extremely strong circumstantial and medical evidence that has piled up, Wagner's celebrity should not factor into this," she said.

"If it looks like a murder – and Natalie's death certainly does – then it should be treated like a murder."

THE MAN heading the revived probe, Los Angeles Sheriff's Homicide Bureau Lt. John Corina, told The ENQUIRER he's considered exhumation, pending further investigation.

Detectives recently flew Davenport to Hawaii – where the "Splendour" is anchored – to re-enact Natalie's terrifying final moments in a series of tests critical to whether Wagner will be charged.

The officer also told The ENQUIRER that Wagner has been ducking the detectives for years – and the case remains active.

Added Marti: "It's time to let a jury decide. Arrest Robert Wagner!" NE

HOOTERS GIRL SAVES MAN'S LIFE

Now they're the breast of friends!

NOW that's a good waitress!

Mariana Villareal had just started working at Hooters in Roswell, Ga., when she gave a customer far more than his just desserts by offering her kidney to save his life!

Don Thomas, 72, faced a death sentence after losing both kidneys to cancer when he explained his dire situation to 22-year-old Mariana.

“I said, ‘Well, I have TWO kidneys, do you want one of mine?’” recalled Mariana.

Given the circumstances, Don was happy to take the brunette up on her offer!

“I just barely knew her,” he said. “But my answer was, ‘I will accept it!’”

The sympathetic server admitted she had a personal motivation for her generosity. She’d just lost her own grandmother to kidney failure.

“Around the same time I met [Don], my grandmother was going through something similar, but I wasn’t able to help her,” she wrote on her Instagram page.

“My higher calling maybe wasn’t for my grandma, but for a complete stranger.”

Happily, Don and Mariana, now friends, underwent successful surgeries on May 29.

“The kidney is a PERFECT match!” Mariana wrote on Instagram afterward. “As for me, my kidney is working like there’s still two in there!”

But she insisted: “It was never my intention to have my story go viral ... If Don can live two more years, happy as he’s ever been, that’s fine with me. I did my part, now it’s God’s turn to keep him alive.” NE

REUNITED!

$65 million divorce is OFF, says insider

KEEP your cheating out of the headlines!"

That's the deal behind Melanie Griffith calling off her divorce to womanizing Antonio Banderas!

"They decided to stay together after attending their daughter Stella's high school graduation," an insider told The National ENQUIRER.

"I think Melanie's finally accepted that Antonio will always be a ladies man!"

Other eyewitnesses noticed the proud parents getting close as their daughter accepted her diploma.

"They looked like a comfortable married couple," one attendee told The ENQUIRER.

"There's no doubt they still love each other!"

As The ENQUIRER reported, the "Working Girl" star filed for divorce on June 6, 2014 - just days after we ran scandalous photos of Antonio embracing a sexy dinner date on the French Riviera while Melanie was in Los Angeles.

The ENQUIRER later revealed that Melanie's angry friends suspected Antonio "humiliated" his wife with at least a dozen women over the two decades they were together - and that she'd hired high-powered divorce lawyer Laura Wasser.

Melanie, 57, and 54-year-old Antonio originally planned to stay married until Stella turned 18 in September of last year.

"But after The ENQUIRER ran those pics of Antonio, Mel couldn't wait any longer," revealed the family friend.

"Enough was enough, and she pulled the plug!"

Melanie had been preparing for a $65 million divorce battle, taking aim at assets including properties in Los Angeles, Spain, New York and Colorado.

But as The ENQUIRER reported in 2002, Antonio first packed his bags and left Melanie after she accused him of cheating with his "Femme Fatale" co-star, Rebecca Romijn - even though Rebecca was happily married to John Stamos at the time!

In June of 2012, The ENQUIRER also exposed Melanie's anger over his reported flirting with two exotic beauties at the Cannes Film Festival in France.

More recently, we caught Antonio dating blonde Dutch investment banker Nicole Kempel.

"Melanie realized she missed Antonio - and while she can't live with him, she can't live without him either," the insider added.

"Mel can put up with his cheating - as long as she's not publicly humiliated again!"

"She was having her tattoo of his name lased off her arm, too! I wonder if she'll get it fixed now?" NE

... BUT SHE HAS WITH THE FIREFIGHTING HUNK

DON'T expect any real sparks to fly between "Bachelorette" Kaitlyn Bristowe and her suitors on ABC's hit dating show!

The 29-year-old dance instructor is "red hot" for her hometown honey, handsome firefighter Trevor Partlo, The National ENQUIRER can now reveal.

"You could say that Kaitlyn's firefighter hunk is still fanning her flames," an insider said. "The truth is, at the end of the day none of the guys on the show made her fall in love.

"Kaitlyn's supposed to be keeping a low profile while the show is still airing. But she and Trevor are still hooking up!"

The ENQUIRER tracked

The pair with two family members down Trevor, 27, at Firehouse #1 in Victoria, B.C., a small town near Vancouver. When quizzed by an ENQUIRER reporter on June 11, Trevor refused to throw cold water on rumors he's dating Kaitlyn.

Explained the insider: "Kaitlyn was already involved with Trevor when she filmed 'The Bachelor' last fall. She was a top three finalist, but after Chris Soules gave Whitney Bischoff the final rose, Kaitlyn ran back to Trevor.

"But then Kaitlyn was selected to face off against Britt Nilsson to become the next 'Bachelorette.'

"After the bachelors chose her, Kaitlyn assured Trevor that dating other guys on TV meant nothing to her.

Kaitlyn told Trevor that reports she had sex with a contestant are all hype for TV, according to a pal

"And when reports surfaced that Kaitlyn had sex with one of them, she told Trevor it was all hyped up for TV!"

The ENQUIRER learned the brunette beauty recently snuck up to Canada to connect with her buff fireman.

According to a friend, "They were together in late May and early June, but it was hushed up."

On May 28, Kaitlyn posted a photo of Vancouver on her Twitter page, with the words, "So I live here."

Said the source: "While the show remains on the air, Kaitlyn's had to keep her continuing relationship with Trevor on the down-low. She's going along with the charade on the show."

On a recent "Bachelorette" episode, Kaitlyn shared a steamy kiss with Nick Viall, who lost out on the competition for "Bachelorette" Andi Dorfman.

After their kiss, Kaitlyn gushed: "I have a genuine connection with Nick!"

But, according to the source: "That was just staged. The truth is, Kaitlyn's heart belongs to Trevor."

"She can't wait until the show is over and she can get back to Vancouver - and her firefighter beau!"

TWO of Playboy's hottest vixens are baring their claws in a reality show catfight!

Now sources have exposed the chilling secret behind the public feud between Holly Madison and Kendra Wilkinson - who lived together in the Playboy Mansion as Hugh Hefner's favorite girls!

The pin-up drama began with the release of Holly's new book, "Down the Rabbit Hole: Curious Adventures and Cautionary Tales of a Former Playboy Bunny" - with Holly, 35, declaring Kendra the "fakest person" from her Playboy days.

Holly wrote she was "hurt and confused" after Kendra cut ties when their E! show "Girls Next Door" ended in 2010.

Kendra quickly shot back through social media: "WHO ARE YOU???? I DON'T EVEN KNOW YOU! WE WERE NEVER FRIENDS. IT WAS ALL JUST WORK."

But an old pal divulged 30-year-old Kendra ended her friendship with Holly under strict orders from future hubby Hank Baskett!

"Hank controls her friendships and her relationships," the source dished to The ENQUIRER.

"Kendra and Holly were very good friends while on the show. After Kendra got with Hank, she became a completely different person and cut everyone else out!"

Now insiders are even more concerned about Kendra's marriage to the former NFL star, who was caught cheating on her last year with a transsexual model.

"Kendra doesn't have any real friends," a worried source told The ENQUIRER. "If she doesn't change her behavior, she'll find herself very lonely!"

TOM'S TERROR TACTICS ON DRUG-CRAZED SON!

Hanks takes Chet on tour of maximum security jail

TOM Hanks used his Hollywood clout to send his druggie son to prison! But even that couldn't save Chet Hanks from his sad path of deadly self-destruction.

"They tried to scare him straight," a longtime friend of the rapper told The National ENQUIRER, revealing how Tom and wife Rita Wilson sent their son on a terrifying tour of a maximum security prison while Chet was in high school.

"They told Chet, 'This is where you're ending up!'" said the concerned pal.

"But Chet didn't take the jail visit seriously. He just kept getting high!"

Chet's privileged upbringing first took a twisted turn when he was sent to the exclusive Harvard-Westlake School in L.A.

"He began partying every weekend, smoking pot and drinking," said the insider.

"Then he got into harder stuff. Chet wasn't the nice kid anymore. He was becoming someone else."

The pampered private-school student went on to Northwestern University - where Chet began posing as a streetwise rapper as his drug abuse worsened.

"Chet came home during breaks acting like he was raised on the streets, using rapper lingo ... He called himself 'Chet Haze.'"

Tom and Rita finally got their son to enter rehab months ago - and Chet, 24, later announced he was "50 days clean and sober from everything, including alcohol."

But after being ridiculed recently over the Internet for a video where he boasted about using the "n-word," Chet traveled to Europe - where he's now wanted by British authorities for causing $1,800 worth of damages to his London hotel room after a night of outrageous partying.

"Tom's especially upset because of the stress on Rita, who's recovering from a double mastectomy," said a family friend.

"They have all the money and fame in the world, yet they don't have one day of peace. It's a parent's worst nightmare!"

Chet showed off his handguns on social media; right, the hotel room damage

DAVID CASSIDY IN REHAB OVER HIS BOOZING!

AFTER three drunk driving busts, David Cassidy is FINALLY getting help for his alcohol problems, The National ENQUIRER has exclusively learned.

The former "Partridge Family" star, 65, has checked into rehab after filing for bankruptcy while facing a nasty divorce.

"He's trying to get help," his son, Beau, 24, told The ENQUIRER.

At the same time, David's estranged wife of 24 years, Susan Shifrin Cassidy, has moved out of their Florida home.

David's also going through a tough divorce

The couple is trying to work out the separation of property amicably, according to their son.

The home in Fort Lauderdale has been on the market for some time, and David's slashed the price to $3.2 million.

"She [Susan] is going through some stuff, and I'm spending some time here getting stuff out of the house," said Beau.

"Everything is fine," he added, noting the couple's divorce is "at a standstill until they go through mediation. They're seeing if the house can go to auction." NE

SPECIAL REPORT

A SEX obsessed female prison employee faces her own seven year stint in the slammer after being lured into a passionate behind bars ménage-a-trois with two convicted killers!

The National ENQUIRER has learned that while “Casanova Convict” Richard Matt is suspected of manipulating Joyce Mitchell into aiding his escape from a maximum security prison, the hopeless heavyset seamstress was also romantically involved with fellow escapee David Sweat!

“The realities of prison life may have sparked something between these three,” a law enforcement source said.

“They’ve worked very closely, and they’ve shown a remarkable amount of faith in one another.”

Lovestruck Mitchell, 51, confessed to providing the duo with the drill bits, saw blades and goggles with headlamps that were used to dig their way out of the bowels of the maximum security Clinton Correctional Facility in upstate New York, an official said.

Soon after making that confession to cops, Mitchell was charged with promoting prison contraband and criminal facilitation, felony and misdemeanor crimes.

But in yet another sick twist,

Mitchell’s husband, Lyle, was also being eyed as an accomplice in the breakout, at the time The ENQUIRER went to print.

Remarkably, the daring prison bust could have been avoided if bungling prison officials had acted quicker: The ENQUIRER has learned they were already investigating Mitchell for her steamy slammer sessions with Sweat, 34. They had been banned from having any contact!

At the same time, investigators probing the great escape are trying to determine the pair’s motivation, and have even explored whether they were involved in a homosexual relationship – or if they had links to the terrorist group known as ISIS.

Agents have focused on the two escapees’ relationship to a shadowy fellow inmate known simply as “The Imam,” a source said.

“Prisons are fertile ground for ISIS through prison employees, prison ministries and prison gangs. It’s possible these two made such a connection,” private investigator and law enforcement expert Paul Huebl told The ENQUIRER.

“But their motivations are unknown. Their first impetus was to get out of prison. After that, it’s anyone’s guess.” NE

5 Using powerful cutting tools, also smuggled in, they opened a large hole in a 24-inch steam pipe.

1 Using smuggled hacksaws, Sweat and Matt cut larger holes around air vents in their cell and hid them with grates.

2 The escape hatches led to a hidden maintenance catwalk behind the walls used for steam pipes and other utilities.

3 The pair followed the catwalk and steam pipes, eventually descending six stories while staying inside the prison wall.

4 After smashing through a brick wall, they tapped into an electrical junction box and ran wire to the next obstacle.

6 Once inside the pipe, the devious duo crawled about a block. They also left behind a cartoon to taunt investigators.

7 Once they were outside the prison walls, the pair cut an exit hole in the pipe and ascended a nearby ladder.

8 Finally, they cut through the lock and chain sealing a manhole, and emerged on a street outside the prison.

Farrah MURDER

She vowed to kill druggie

FARRAH Fawcett went to her grave haunted by her troubled son's desperate battle with drugs – a war he's still fighting today.

In a shocking disclosure on the six-year anniversary of her death, The National ENQUIRER has learned Farrah – who died at age 62 – was so traumatized by Redmond O'Neal's struggles she once entertained the chilling idea of murdering his dealer!

"She thought it was the only way of saving him," a close family friend told The National ENQUIRER.

"While there's no indication Farrah ever acted on her emotional belief, she must be spinning in her grave because her boy still can't get the monkey off his back.

"Farrah went through hell because of Redmond's drug use. When it seemed obvious he couldn't quit on his own, she wanted to take out the guy supplying him. But cancer beat her to the punch."

In an exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER three years before her death, the '70s poster girl said she'd seen Redmond through 11 stints in rehab for heroin, cocaine and crystal methamphetamine addictions.

"I've been to hell and back," a sobbing Farrah revealed.

"In fact, I'm not even back –

MARY TYLER MOORE SUICIDE DRAMA!

SHOWBIZ legend Mary Tyler Moore wants to die with dignity – just like her terminally ill brother, who tried to commit suicide 24 years ago, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

"Mary's just about at the end of her rope," a family friend said. "Her once-steel will to fight the good fight, to overcome her myriad health woes, is fading fast. She's ready to meet her maker, and tragically knows what she must do."

The ENQUIRER can reveal the star, now 78, tried to help her 47-year-old brother, John Hackett Moore, find eternal peace when he was at the end of his cancer battle in 1991.

As Mary revealed in her biography, "After All," she and her brother attempted an assisted suicide: She laced ice cream with high-powered drugs in a desperate attempt to free John of his unbearable pain.

"He asked me to mash them [the pills] into ice cream, the only food his stomach could tolerate," she wrote. "There wasn't much to say, and when he extended his hand, I silently gave him the first batch of pills and water, which he took until he couldn't stand the taste anymore."

Mary's last public appearance in 2013

But her brother's tolerance to the lethal cocktail was so high, he lived through the attempt. John would die three months later, surrounded by family in his hospital room.

Mary hasn't been seen in public since April 2013, when she was pictured in a wheelchair at Los Angeles International Airport. Her long battle with diabetes has brought on near-blindness; Mary also suffers from kidney and heart disease, as well as Alzheimer's.

it's still going on."

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, Redmond, 30, has been back using. Sources said the family didn't learn of his tragic relapse until after a warrant was issued for his parole violations in April.

Police in Culver City, Calif., took Redmond into custody on May 27.

Added the insider: "Farrah's death made an impression on Redmond. He partly credited the fact he had ended up in jail during his mother's last days when he proclaimed himself drug-free in 2013.

"Maybe now as he reflects on her passing, he'll find the strength to finally beat his demons."

Said the source: "Despite John's failed attempt, Mary is steadfast that she did the right thing when she tried to put her brother out of his misery, and has been contemplating ending her own [life] this way."

What's more, as she lies on her deathbed, Mary is constantly dreaming of seeing her son, Richard Meeker, who died at age 24 in 1980. "Every so often, Mary will say, 'I'll be with Richie soon,'" the source told The ENQUIRER.

Had Richie lived, he would be turning 59 on July 3. Said the pal: "With summer here, Mary can't help but think of her little boy's birthday. If there was ever a time to take matters into her own hands, now is sadly that time." NE

ENQUIRER
HOW TO...

$LASH THE COST OF YOUR NEXT VACATION!

YOU can hit the highway and enjoy a terrific vacation – without breaking the bank this summer!

During summer vacation season the prices on attractions and accommodations often skyrocket. But you can get a bigger bang for your buck with these tips from The National ENQUIRER!

■ MAKE SURE YOU DO YOUR HOMEWORK

Surf the web before leaving home. Check out discount travel sites like Orbitz and Travelocity for the best airfares and hotel rates. But check with your hotel to see if it's offering any special rates – which may be even better!

■ STICK TO A BUDGET

Know what you can afford to spend on souvenirs and other nonessential buys before you go – and don't exceed that amount. If you do shop, avoid souvenir traps with marked-up price tags for gullible tourists.

■ DON'T RENT WHERE YOU FLY

You can get a better rate at rent-a-car locations just a few miles away from the airport. Also, if your employer has a corporate account with a specific agency, it often honors discounts when you travel for leisure. And don't forget about AAA and AARP discounts!

■ TRY ALTERNATIVE ACCOMMODATIONS

Hotel costs add up! The average daily cost of a hotel room is about $115. If you can't stay with friends or family at your destination, consider a short-term rental. It will significantly slash lodging costs, but you'll save even more money by cooking at the rental!

■ BUY THE BOOK!

Pick up "Entertainment Books" for the city you're visiting. They feature major savings on meals, attractions, car rentals and even accommodations. They're available online, at car rental agencies and in drugstores. Some destinations also offer separate discount card programs for local businesses.

■ EAT SMART

Dining out at every meal will undoubtedly put a big dent in your daily budget. Make sure to pack lunches and take advantage of the continental breakfasts in most hotels at vacation destinations. Bring your own food to theme parks, ballgames, carnivals and other attractions, and you'll skip huge concession fees. You'll also probably be eating a whole lot better! NE

EVEN THE STARS LOVE BUDGET HOLIDAYS!

■ "Dancing with the Stars" babe JULIANNE HOUGH made a big splash when she joined the regular folks at the shore in Southport, N.C.

■ KIM KARDASHIAN rented the Staples Center for Kanye's birthday, but she got into the inexpensive swing of things at the Jersey Shore!

■ What, no limo? DAVID LETTERMAN and son Harry hoofed it around the tourist sights in Washington, D.C.

All The BUZZ

Enquiring minds want to know

Nori's glittering birthday gifts!

NOTHING'S too good for Kim Kardashian and Kanye West's Princess Nori! As she turned 2 years old on June 15, news leaked that the couple lavished the little lady with nearly $1 million in designer duds and accessories.

"Everything is dripping in diamonds, Swarovski crystals, rubies, emeralds and just about everything that you might think a little darling would have," said an insider. The birthday booty includes a jewel-encrusted tiara personally designed by Kanye!

"Kim gasped when she first saw it," said a source, who added that Kanye then surprised her with her own tiara and a crown for himself.

All The Buzz has also learned that Kimye have hired a real estate agent to buy a private island where they can get away with Nori and the new baby now on the way. It's getting harder to keep up with those Kardashians!

Supermodel MELTDOWNS

But they're beautiful when they're angry!

KATE MOSS

This runway legend made headlines on June 7 after getting pulled off a plane – for swilling vodka and calling the pilot a “basic b-tch” when the flight ran out of sandwiches.

NAOMI CAMPBELL

Naomi can't throw a temper tantrum without also throwing a cellphone at a maid, or a BlackBerry at a personal assistant, or some punches at London police officers.

TYRA BANKS

Contestants on “America's Next Top Model” deserve battle pay. One memorable episode featured Tyra screaming about the anger issues of one would-be fashion star!

JANICE DICKINSON

The self-proclaimed “first supermodel” is used to abusing photographers who catch her staggering out of nightclubs. Her biggest tantrum was on “Celebrity Rehab,” of course.

'Modest' Martha

LEAVE it to Martha Stewart to proclaim her own home "an American treasure!"

That's the not-so-modest description the Domestic Diva gives to her sprawling Skylands estate in Seal Harbor, Maine.

It's a great summer home if you don't want to see your houseguests, though!

Martha's mansion offers 12 bedrooms for visitors to her 63-acre property on picturesque Mount Desert Island.

But don't expect to find this celebrity real estate on the market anytime soon. Martha declares it to be her "favorite place," and she's one lady who knows how to hang on to a good thing.

Johnny's feet cause a stink

JOHNNY Depp is already making sure the new "Pirates of the Caribbean" movie stinks! "His feet are really causing a problem," an insider told All The Buzz.

"He's tried everything - sprays, creams, inserts - but they're always sweating up a pungent storm!"

The ENQUIRER earlier revealed how the famously unwashed actor bugged bride Amber Heard with his rotten breath. Now the 52-year-old is facing a mutiny both on and off the set!

"They make Johnny soak his feet in hot soapy water before he puts on his costume," said the insider. "Maybe it's time for Amber to make him start wearing socks - at least!"

Classic ENQUIRER

MICHAEL Landon was days from death this week in 1991, as The ENQUIRER revealed his decision to pass away at home! Michael's loyal fans were also shocked to discover the "Little House on the Prairie" star had an adopted son he'd abandoned as an infant, with Jason Smith hoping in vain to see his dad again.

Cooper's not kidding

ANDERSON Cooper got an early start on hitting the NYC nightlife! The CNN anchor recently looked back at visiting the disco Studio 54 in the '70s with his socialite mom, Gloria Vanderbilt - when he was 10 years old!

"I went to Studio 54 with Michael Jackson and a bunch of people," he recalled, "and I had no idea who he was. I saw him dance, and I was like, 'That guy's a really good dancer.'"

Amazingly enough, that was Anderson's second trip to Studio 54 - with his first trip to see sexy disco songstress Grace Jones! Good thing Anderson has said out loud what everyone's already thinking: "Child welfare authorities probably want to talk to my mom."

Salma's li'l star

WILL the Oscar go to Valentina Pinault? Salma Hayek hopes so! She's asked her tycoon hubby Francois-Henri Pinault to bankroll their 7-year-old's first movie.

"Salma's convinced Valentina has star quality," an insider told All The Buzz. "But plum roles for kids are hard to come by. They'll have to pay to play!"

The ‘Madoff’ men (& one woman)

ABC is banking on an Oscar winner to star as phony financier Bernie Madoff in its upcoming “Madoff” miniseries. Richard Dreyfuss will play the crook with a $65 billion scam, while Blythe Danner will portray the rich wife who didn’t ask any questions. Frank Whaley is heroic fraud investigator Harry Markopolos. Tom Lipinski will play tragic son Mark Madoff, who reported Bernie to authorities – and committed suicide on the second anniversary of his father’s arrest.

Lohan busted!

RUSSIA went after Lindsay Lohan for smoking something legal! The 28-year-old celeb has been getting in some globetrotting after finally finishing her community service commitments to the law – and almost got busted for lighting a cigarette in a Moscow restaurant. “We cannot allow anyone to smoke in our restaurant – not even if they are stars, politicians or the president,” said a BOSCO Café spokesman, but Lindsay was still free to just walk out of the place.

YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. STUART FISCHER & LAURIE MILLER

THE RECIPE FOR A BETTER BARBECUE

GRILLING is thrilling, but it can also be healthy! Burgers and ice cream will ratchet up your fat, but there are substitutions that will keep you slim. Use canola mayo instead of the regular stuff, and instantly eliminate saturated fat and cholesterol. Or opt for non-fat plain yogurt dressing, which has the added benefits of calcium, vitamin D and protein. Switching from meat to mushroom burgers will also save you about 275 calories.

BEATING BACK PAIN!

OVER 50 percent of Americans suffer from chronic back pain. Seeing a physician for treatment is best, but some simple steps can relieve the pain! Yoga and stretching improve blood flow and help develop better muscle strength. Daily massages offer wonderful relief. Diet also helps! Eliminating inflammatory foods like refined grains, dairy and sugar will minimize any muscle pain.

Need sleep? KNOCK YOURSELF OUT!

FOR a more refreshing sleep, physical activities such as walking, aerobics, biking and yoga are directly associated with better nighttime habits – especially when compared to folks who aren't active at all! On the other hand, less enjoyable tasks such as housework and childcare actually increase the likelihood of poor sleep habits, according to a University of Pennsylvania study. So blow off the housework and sleep your way to a dream life!

ADD ZEST TO A HEALTHY DIET!

GETTING sick of healthy food? It's easy to add low-calorie zing to bland brown rice, steamed broccoli and grilled chicken. Lemon juice offers a big flavor boost to meats and salads, and tossing in two tablespoons of orange juice and one more of olive oil make for a tasty citrus dressing. Or try hot sauces – most have fewer than five calories per teaspoon. You'll also find lots of benefits from Indian spices like curry, cumin and turmeric. If you're a dessert nut, sprinkle cocoa powder and cinnamon on yogurts, nuts and puddings.

HOMEMADE FIRST AID!

DITCH the pharmacist and consult your gardener! More people are turning to natural solutions for first aid needs. Yarrow and cayenne pepper help blood to clot, and can be made into a paste to apply to wounds. Drinking chamomile and peppermint tea can reduce anxiety, and dampened tea bags can help relieve itching or be used as a natural antibiotic. Mixed with water, Bentonite clay makes a paste that draws toxins from the skin, and can be used on bug, spider and snake bites.

COPING WITH ARTHRITIS PAIN

How to read the signals in those aching joints

'Suddenly, all that stuff about having good looks and being sexy took secondary position to just being able to walk without pain.'

Kathleen Turner

KATHLEEN Turner isn't shy about the affliction that turned her into a character actress. The "Body Heat" beauty saw her leading lady roles disappear after she was stricken with rheumatoid arthritis. Now she's an advocate for the 53 million arthritis sufferers in America and believes it's time for us all to learn more about this debilitating disease.

1 KNOW THE ENEMY

"Arthritis" is not a single disease. It's really an informal way of referring to joint pain or joint disease - with symptoms that include swelling, pain, stiffness and decreased range of motion.

2 NAMING THE PAIN

There are more than 100 kinds of arthritis. A general physician can make the initial diagnosis, but a rheumatologist can do a thorough assessment of your joints. An orthopedist can suggest surgical solutions.

3 PREVENT THE PAIN

There's no way to avoid arthritis, but you can prevent the risk of developing certain types. Osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and gout can all be made better by giving up cigarettes and maintaining a healthy weight.

4 REACT QUICKLY

Early detection allows a patient to get started on a regimen of drugs for treatment - and even remission. Get diagnosed and try out some low-impact exercises. Extreme cases can also benefit from cortisone shots.

5 DON'T FIGHT FATIGUE

One good piece of advice? Sleep on it! Too many sufferers try to battle through it when rest is often the best medicine. A good night's sleep brings its own benefits, along with relief for your aching joints.

6 EAT RIGHT

A nutritious diet - when combined with exercise - can help you achieve and maintain a healthy weight. The rate of inflammation can also be controlled by eating foods that are rich in antioxidants.

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

GEMINI MAY 22-JUNE 21

Your uncanny ability to be flexible will come in handy as other people change their plans ... which, unfortunately, disrupts yours. Money matters are also of major concern when unexpected expenses pop up later in the week. Be sure to have some backup cash.

Lucky Numbers: 2, 6, 11

LIBRA SEPT. 23-OCT. 22

Ready or not ... big changes are on the horizon! But you must not procrastinate. You have to move forward without looking in the rearview mirror. Great opportunities are definitely in store for you if you believe in yourself and hang in there.

Lucky Numbers: 1, 5, 23

AQUARIUS JAN. 21-FEB. 18

Career concerns take a backseat to your family and personal relationship needs. Matters seem difficult now but when the dust settles, many of your worries subside. Good news comes on Friday concerning a request you made a few weeks ago.

Lucky Numbers: 4, 8, 13

CANCER JUNE 22-JULY 22

You'll go toe-to-toe with a co-worker who tries to take credit for your work. You are usually not one to cause conflict but when pushed too far, watch out! You'll stand your ground.

Lucky Numbers: 1, 6, 24

SCORPIO OCT. 23-NOV. 21

You'll get what you need financially but not much more. Money comes in and goes back out. Less is more for now. Big rewards come later but until then, you will need to stretch your money.

Lucky Numbers: 6, 13, 36

PISCES FEB. 19-MARCH 20

Compare prices if you are making a big purchase. It seems there is a large discrepancy in what you could be charged. Enjoy simple pleasures this weekend. Less is more when planning your schedule.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

CELEBRITY WORD MATCH

fine china

Shown smaller than approximate size of 7" high.

She inspires with her message of love!

Inspired by popular Blue Willow china and the timeless tale of true love it so beautifully tells, “Magical Blessing of Two Lovers” is a first-of-its-kind figurine that reminds us that, with faith in our hearts, all things are possible.

Handcrafted and painted by hand.

Quietly perched for a moment of reflection, this angelic beauty is visited by a feathered friend — perhaps one of the cherished fable’s star-crossed lovers! Every fine line is crafted by hand, and her wings and dress are delicately emblazoned with hand-applied Blue Willow artwork. Her gown is then richly hand-painted in the striking, bold colors of the widely collected china pattern.

Guaranteed to delight!

This Hamilton exclusive is limited to 95 casting days, individually hand-numbered and arrives with a Certificate of Authenticity. Reply today — your satisfaction guaranteed or your money back!

Doctors find the strangest things – in some pretty strange locations – as these X-ray photos reveal. In this case, a phone was recovered from a man's lower colon in a San Salvador prison. It's unknown if the ringer was set to vibrate

Australian police suspected Chen Liu was killed with a nail gun. A quick X-ray confirmed that theory

HAND GRENADE

NAILS

THE INSIDE STORY!

WEIRD, CREEPY OBJECTS AND HORRIFYING INJURIES REVEALED BY X-RAYS

LIGHT BULB

Doctors removed this light bulb from a man's butt in Pakistan. He was reportedly mystified by the discovery
